

UNIQUE STORIES OF INDIA

A VILLAGE WHERE GOOGLE PLAYS WITH FACEBOOK AND OBAMA FIGHTS WITH ANIL KAPOOR!

Have you heard of a place where kids are named anything from Google and Facebook to Coffee, Sugar and even Obama!

Bhadrapur, a small village in Dharwad district of Karnataka, is where these names come from. Hakki Pikki, a tribal community that resides here has this weird way of naming the kids, which was started around decades ago.

This is unique that the kids in Bhadrapur are named after the things and people that cross their lives in several ways.

Likewise, Coffee becomes friends with Tea, Google hits Compound's head and Shah Rukh Khan is crying in that corner as Amitabh doesn't give him the bat to play!

Travel to this amazing place in Karnataka and experience the unique naming system that exists here.

Meet America, Obama, Aamir Khan, Coffee, Congress, Japan, North Korea and many more whom you wouldn't have met otherwise!

VISUALS FOR THE REEL:

We can start the reel by saying, "Oh my God, Obama is fighting with Shahrukh and Japan is doing nothing. – wait, what's happening here".

And then we can come to the story of these unique names while calling everyone by their names in the reel shot.

This is so interesting!

Here coffee and tree are real friends!

We'll capture the way they talk and denote themselves in a conversation.

We can add more clips of children here to make the reel more interesting.